National Translation Mission (NTM) GoI

National Translation Mission (NTM) is a Government of India scheme to establish translation as an industry in general and, to facilitate higher education by making knowledge texts accessible to students and academics in Indian languages in particular. The vision is to create a knowledge society by transcending language barriers. NTM aims to disseminate knowledge in all Indian languages listed in the VIII schedule of the Constitution through translation.

Tamil Nadu Textbook and Educational Services Corporation (TNTESC)

TNTESC was formed in 1961 and the corporation prints and distributes textbooks in languages such as Tamil, English, Telugu, Malayalam, Kannada, Urdu, Sanskrit and Arabic to the student community in Tamil Nadu and Puducherry. The corporation finds and restores rare, ancient books and make them available in all the general libraries in the entire state.

About the Programme

Access to literature/s across the world has been primarily possible through translation. Knowledge production and dissemination of knowledge through translation is integral to the fostering and building of any knowledge communities. Wealth of knowledge that each distinct culture and language possesses becomes accessible through translation. It is a culturally and linguistically enriching process that has also got some politically loaded dimensions. In the Indian plurilingual terrain, the process of translation, intricacies of ideologies and the role of translators as mediators, co-creators and at times creators have always been discussed and debated. This training programme attempts to empower aspiring translators and researchers by bringing together leading academics, authors, translators and editors to a premier interdisciplinary platform where they share their practices, experiences and methodology to illustrate the recent trends, concerns and practical challenges in translation and translation studies along with possible solutions to the problems.
